

A MINISTER'S MEANDERINGS

Return of Rev. M. L. Rugg from the Baptist Convention at Chicago.

Visit to the Great International Sunday School Convention at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Early in May, Rev. M. L. Rugg, of the Calvary Baptist Church, left Victoria to represent the churches of the Northwest at the Baptist Convention, which opened at Chicago on the 21st May. From the reports made on that occasion it was manifest that in all its operations the church had had wonderful prosperity. A university had been started at Chicago, which, in addition to its landed property, began with over a million dollars in cash. At the convention were specially represented the four great branches of church work, the Home Mission, Foreign Mission, the Baptist Publication Society and the Baptist Educational Society, all of which were prospering most satisfactorily and would, next year, be free of debt. As an evidence of the immense interest that was taken in the work of the church, Mr. Rugg noted that there were upwards of 5,000 delegates in attendance, the whole proceedings passing off in the most harmonious and successful manner. The Baptist churches of British Columbia, owing to their distance from the remainder of the Dominion, were under the American church. Years ago there had been a Baptist organization in Victoria, but it had, unfortunately, been allowed to go down, and it was only about six years ago that the work had been resumed, at which time he had been sent out from the East. Since then churches had been established at New Westminster and Nanaimo, there being four organized congregations in British Columbia that were aided and directed by the American board, and all increasing and prospering. Although no delegate had been appointed to represent British Columbia at the International Sunday School Convention at Pittsburgh, Mr. Rugg, happening to be in the neighborhood, had attended it. It was at this convention that the committees were appointed to aid in preparing the International Sunday School lesson scheme. Two members of that committee represented Canada. Among the subjects discussed were those of colour and temperance. Despite, however, the excitement which they caused, the conclusions arrived at were harmonious. This temperance question derived its chief importance from the persistent and energetic force put forth by the National W. C. T. U. to have inserted in each quarter one specific lesson on temperance, to be imperative rather than optional. The lesson committee decided hereafter to select eleven regular consecutive lessons for each quarter, the review to occur the twelfth Sunday, and for the thirteenth a temperance lesson and a missionary lesson, either of which may be selected for use by the schools. After discussion the convention resolved to recommend to the publishers of lesson helps throughout the United States and Canada to make the expositions and notes upon the temperance lessons as full as upon other lessons of the quarter, and also to specially emphasize the subject of temperance.

It was determined to hold the second World's Sunday school convention and the seventh International convention in St. Louis in 1893. At the conclusion of the convention, Mr. Rugg went eastward, visiting New York and New England. Everything seemed to be prosperous, except in New England proper, particularly in his native State—Vermont. He was able from his own personal observations to fully corroborate all that had been said about the depreciation in the value of farms. The cause of this was the competition of western beef and grain, with which the local producers found it impossible to contend. The raising of horses would pay handsomely and there was no doubt that the farmers, seeing to their interests, would largely engage in the industry. If the Vermonters would interest themselves in growing eggs, poultry, garden truck, and making fresh butter, nicely put up for the table, they could find markets for more than they could produce in New York and Boston. These would pay them far better than anything they had been accustomed to raise. Their lands were not run out yet, but many of them had already abandoned their properties and gone to the West. For several years the weather had been against them, and this was another cause of their misfortunes and consequent dissatisfaction.

A RIDE THROUGH COMOX.

(Correspondence of THE COLONIST.)

Landing from the steamer, the first object that attracts the visitor at head of the long wharf is the "Elk hotel." Rickety, roomy and comfortable, with many appendices to the original building, it is the ideal old country inn. Walking up the street, you have on the left the residence and farm buildings of Mr. Robb, the lord of the manor, and the fruit store of Messrs. Bruce & Millett. On the right you have the general stores of Messrs. McPhee & Holmes, and the K. of P. hall, which latter edifice, by its disproportion to size, somewhat dwarfs the other buildings. You next pass the boot and shoe store of Mr. Rollings and face the "Lorne hotel," a rival to the "Elk," but of more modern exterior. Here you get into Mr. Wood's comfortable stage, and, turning to the left, pass Mr. How's butcher shop, Bentley & Swan's general store, and Mr. Becken's private boarding house, and immediately you are in the country.

After travelling half a mile, you reach Josephstown, a place which has sprung up like a mushroom, within the last year or two, and already boasts of a post-office, doctor, constable, drapery shop, and K. C. church and rectory. Another half mile, and you descend from the height of civilization to the depths of barbarism. You pass through an Indian rancherie, where half naked savages are reclining on wooden lounges in the sun, and where the atmosphere is pervaded by an ancient and fishlike smell. Another interval brings you to the "Long Bridge," which spans an extensive stretch of tide flats. Here Messrs. Mathieson, Cairns and Crawford, after a large expenditure of money and labor, have succeeded in reclaiming from the sea several hundred acres of excellent land. Their unaided enterprise and perseverance deserve all praise.

Three miles from the landing you see on the other side of Courtenay River the sawmill of Urquhart Bros., whose water-power is soon to be exchanged for steam. Close by is Courtenay City, of which the most prominent building is Mr. Grant's large new hotel, known as "Castle Dangerous," which stands on a high bluff near the river. A few yards further brings you to the Courtenay Bridge, at the end of which stands the new butcher shop of Messrs. Fraser & Stewart. You next touch the farm and store of Duncan Bros., above which, on a hillside, are the English and Presbyterian churches, and the old central school.

Taking what is known as the "lower prairie road," you pass through some of the best land in the district, and turning to the left, between the Percy and Milligan farms, you cross the river by the Isolum Bridge and get up into McKelvey's country. It is here that the Vancouver Coal Co.'s diamond drill is putting down its initial bore to test the coal value of the lately bedded lands. At present they are down about 40 feet without bed-rock.

Coming back over the Isolum bridge, you follow up the "lower road" past the old Hariston estate, and the Remison, Carwithen and Baily farms, till at Bridges place, you find a cross road, which takes you over into the "upper prairie." Following down this upper road you pass several large farms, chief among which are those of Machin, Hetherington, Grievie and Finley. You fall into the lower road again at Duncan's, and so on to the wharf.

Comox seems to be the best agricultural district on the Island, so far as a transient visitor can judge—unlike Cowichan and other places, which are broken up by bush; the whole country, from the rancherie to the top of the settlement, is open, so that each farm house can be seen by its neighbor. Of course there are a great many bush farms which were not included in the foregoing ride. Comox is prosperous now, but if coal is struck in the valley its future is assured.

July 4th.

EXPLANATION, NOT EXCUSE.

TO THE EDITOR:—In reply to your report of the Victoria Trades Assembly, in your issue of the 4th of July, I beg to offer a few facts as to the Musical Union of this city.

First allow me to state that I was a member of the Union and helped to start it; that I am fully in accord with the principles of the Union; that is maintenance of better price and protection for competent musicians—to see that they get their well earned pay.

As bandmaster of "C" Battery band, I could not subscribe to the schedule of prices, but promised to do what I could to help to obtain fair remuneration for my band. The members of the Union called a meeting, inviting me to be present. They spoke of the cheapness of "C" Battery band; of the great shame it was that the men would have to play so cheaply, till I explained to them that I would do what I could to raise the price. Imagine my surprise when next day I was reliably informed that the president and secretary of the Union sent in tenders for the St. George's picnic below the price established by the Union; that "C" Battery band was the highest of any tender, and that the members of the Musical Union had deliberately deceived me. Of course, I at once sent in my resignation, which was not accepted. I was called on to explain, which I did very fully and distinctly, whereupon the secretary and president pleaded the "baby act," saying they "did not know," and begged me not to withdraw.

I would not have done so, I think, but I heard since then that in order to obtain an engagement they suspended all rules and regulations, contrary to their constitution and by-laws, and played so cheaply, in fact for a mere nothing, that as a union for better prices, I regard the organization an entire failure. The threat against me of boycotting is so very cowardly and contemptible, that it does not deserve notice. The treatment of musicians by the union has been most unprofessional and ungentlemanlike. I am certain that the Trades Assembly is wrongly informed, for the Musical Union in Victoria is the cheapest place where music can be obtained. Of course there are so very few musicians who belong to the union that I do not wonder at it. I am in favor of a Musicians' Union, decent living prices, and honest pay in or out of the union.

The Musicians' Union not only bids lower than non-union men, but also plays for nothing in order to prevent musicians from getting any pay at all. For instance, Prof. Whiting, a "non-union musician," and Prof. Sharpe both had an engagement paying them $10 apiece. The Musicians' Union hearing of this actually went and played for nothing (this being directly in opposition to their constitution and by-laws) in order to prevent competent musicians from fulfilling a paying engagement; and then, when Prof. Sharpe accompanied Mr. Adderley in his selections, actually threatened to leave the stage because Prof. Sharpe was there following his legitimate profession.

A RINGER ON HIM.

A Pretty Tough Yarn of Old Times on the Great Lakes.

"Talking of life preservers," said the truthful mariner, as he knocked the ashes out of his pipe, "you remember the old steamer Roustabout that used to run from Buffalo to Chicago? I was mate on her the year before she was lost. We were about sixty miles out of Chicago when Mike Lanagan, who was doing something on the mast fell, struck his head on the roof of the cabin, and bounced clean out into the lake. Well, the captain he see him fall, and he stopped and backed that old Roustabout quick'n you could say 'Scat!' Mike went down like a plummet, for he was knocked insensible, and I know'd there was no use to leave a life preserver for him, so I just hurried up the boys in getting the boat down, although I didn't expect it 'ud do much good. We had Jim King on board. Passenger from Chicago. You remember Jim King, don't you?"

"Can't say that I do," remarked a bystander.

"Well, Jim was the champion quoit thrower in those days. He's dead now, poor fellow, but Jim was a boss on throwing quoits. I tell you quoits were a great game in them days. Every village had a quoit club and the boys on the farms used to throw boss shoes. It was something like baseball in these times, although I never could see as much fun in baseball as I could in a good game of quoits."

"Oh, come off!" cried the impatient listener. "What did Jim do, or did he do anything? Did the man drown?"

"Now, don't be fly. Who's tellin' this yarn?"

"Well, you don't seem to be."

"Go on! Go on!" said the crowd.

"Well, you know, in quoits a 'ringer' was when you put the quoit around the stake. It counted double. Well, Jim, he picks up the round life preserver—it's like a great big quoit, you know—and as the cap'n came running aft, Jim sings out: 'Cap'n, I'll bet you $5 I'll make a ringer on that man if he comes up within the length of this line.'"

"Bet you $20 you can't," said the cap'n.

"Take you," said Jim, and just at that minute bobs Mike's head about sixty feet astern. Jim threw it, and I'll be darned if that life preserver didn't go plump over on Mike's head clear down on his shoulders, and there it stuck. We got down a boat and when we got to Mike he hadn't come to yet, and didn't for some time after. He'd been a goner if it hadn't bin fur that ringer, although it took the skin off his nose."

"Did the captain pay the $20?"

"Pay it? You just bet he did. And Jim he handed it over to Mike, and Mike blew it all in when we got to Detroit."—New York Dispatch.

The "Machine's" Fascination.

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the scholars were pouring into the Cottage Grove school, which is located on Thirty-fifth street, near Cottage Grove avenue. Just before the hand met the even hour there came the banging of gongs in the street. An alarm of fire had been turned in and the hose cart, engine and marshal's wagon tore by the school house. The tide turned. The scholars who were going in swung around and started on a run after the fire apparatus. Teachers rushed to the windows and called a halt, but in vain. Nothing could stem the tide. The principal rushed out to the door and wielded the big bell vigorously, but evidently he was not in it, as he received no attention. Every one was on the run in the wake of the firemen. It was a false alarm, as it usually is in that neighborhood, and, after seeing the boys in blue rake down their fires, the scholars strolled back to the school house. There were too many delinquents to discipline and they took their seats without a word of correction. At recess the largest one in the school yard was the boy who had talked to a friend on the hose cart. "That was my friend, Jerry Quinn," he said, loftily; and his friends envied him greatly.—Chicago Herald.

Test Peg Beefsteaks.

The author of "Trooper and Red-skin" was one of the men who took a trip to Prince Albert, a settlement upon the North Saskatchewan river, in the dead of winter. The cold was, of course, intense. One day, in the middle of December, they set out upon this march through the frozen wilderness. One of the servants deposited a sack, the contents of which rattled suspiciously, in the sleigh containing the supply of "forage." "Look here," called one of the travelers, "don't put those test pegs beside the oats. They will poke their points through the bag, knock a hole in the grain sacks, and there'll be a leak." "These ain't test pegs," said the man, rather scornfully; "they're beefsteaks." And so they were, cut and ready for use on the line of march.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Came Near Eating Human Flesh.

I was once on the point of tasting human flesh myself. Some of the natives had been helping us to build a house, and the completion of the work was celebrated with a feast. In the course of the dinner I helped myself from a dish whose contents resembled pork, and was about to taste of it when a friendly native nudged me with his elbow and whispered one suggestive and sufficient word—"Man." I needed no further explanation; but it must have been a great disappointment to the cannibals, who would have been much pleased to think that a white man had eaten human flesh.—Fiji Cor. St. Louis Republic.

Marriages Dull.

The Eastport town clerk, who is also a druggist, combines business enterprise and public spirit by offering to give a free marriage license and a pint of cologne to every bona fide applicant for a marriage certificate. He says the number of such applications has been unprecedentedly small so far.—Lewiston Journal.

THE OCEAN TERMINUS OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

PORT CRESCENT.

A FEW UNDENIABLE FACTS:

President T. F. Oakes says the Victoria, Port Crescent and Chehalis Railway will be completed by the 31st December, 1891. This will make Port Crescent the terminus of the strongest corporation on the American Continent. Work on the breakwater will commence immediately and will be completed during next year; the Harbor will then accommodate 120 ships, allowing one cable (see Minard on Harbors) to each large merchant vessel in which to swing, not including twice that number which might be tied up to wharves. Port Crescent will then be possessed of one of the best harbors on the coast.

The soundings on the Company's Map are guaranteed to be correct.

More than 3,000,000 acres of the richest land in the State of Washington, lying to the West and Southwest, are directly tributary to Port Crescent.

It is confidently predicted that in ten years the population of Port Crescent will rival that of Tacoma and Seattle combined.

We strongly recommend to our friends and the public generally the advisability of securing a few lots at present prices. Lots, that to-day can be bought for hundreds, will be worth in a few months as many thousands. We have a limited number of choice lots at present on sale.

POLICE PEREGRINATIONS.

Femininity the Chief Feature of Yesterday's Police Court Sitting—Victoria's Charms—A Refractory Son.

The principal element in the police court attendance yesterday was of the feminine side of humanity. In fact, with the exception of one juvenile male member it was wholly "tother way round." Hattie Spalding should have been there. The law said she was to leave the city, and, with its usual wisdom, the law summoned her to appear and state whether she had done so or not. Hattie may have been trying some other climate with a view to settling in it, but if she had been it did not agree with her physical constitution so well as the salubrious, health-giving atmosphere of Victoria. Be that as it may, she sent her lawyer to say that her state of health was so critical as to forbid her changing for the present. The city exchequer made a draft on her bankers, payable at sight without discount, amount $50, which accords to her the privilege of a further indefinite term of residence in this delightful health-resort.

Bertha Baker is another fair creature who occasionally worships the ruby god with undivided devotion. Her libations proved strong enough to deprive her of her reason, and while in this state she was not noiseless by any means. With a view to the restoration of her mental and physical faculties an officer accosted and placed her under the protection of the strong arm of the law—away from all harm. She came before his honor, confessed her fault, and, on the payment forthwith of five dollars, she was, if not forgiven, allowed to depart in peace. Whether she will sin no more is a source of doubt. Her penitent tears suggested a comparison between herself and an unrepentant, unbent Klutchnan who stood within the dock. The contrast was great; it was between a white and an Indian woman. The former always seems to have some sense of the shame attaching to her presence in the public court; the latter is sublimely indifferent to her surroundings. She will lean over the dock with crossed arms and beam serenely at Mr. Dowler as he reads the charge to her. She evidently takes, or mistakes, the proceeding for some presentation ceremony, and thinks the charge paper is some handsomely printed and illuminated address, extolling her virtues high, good qualities, uniform courtesy and kindly nature. As the complex language of the indictment proceeds, she doesn't display the least concern; she beams all the more profusely at the cool, collected reader, and casts an occasional glance round court as much as to say—"It's all true, I deserve it, they couldn't speak too highly of me." When the charge has been read, and the chief nearly breaks both jaws speaking the unpronounceable tongue of the Indian, she will display her unpeary teeth and murmur "halo!" which the chief interprets to the court as "she says she can get the money, your honor." Then the unswept creature steps down and out, and is seen no more thereafter.

The last occupant of magisterial attention was the boy Sellick, who possesses a strong tendency to stay away from home, sleeping in stables, barns and other well ventilated structures. He has a good home and every comfort with which a kind father and indulgent mother can provide him, but he appreciates the roving life of a vagrant more than the parental roof. Both parents have practically despaired of making any good out of him, and he was left to the justice of the magistrate yesterday. His father was in court, and seemed to take to heart very much the fact that he was taking the only step which was likely to lead to his son's reform. The lad was sentenced to six months in the common jail, but he will be transferred to the reformatory and taught something which may influence him for good.

The midsummer examination of the Barkerville Public School was held on Friday, 27th June, in the presence of a large number of spectators. Among the visitors were noticed Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Nason, Mrs. Houser, Mrs. Marsden, Mrs. House, Miss Kelly, Miss Houser, Messrs. Rogers, Houser, Mason, Kelly, House, Stevenson, Fregillus, Anderson, Shaw, Hagenan and Trustees Watt and McDermott.

To say that the examination was a complete success would convey but a faint idea of the really excellent training the pupils have evidently received during the past year under the tuition of Mr. Phelps. The programme consisted of the examination of the different classes by the teacher, interspersed with songs, etc., by the pupils.

When the hour for dismissal arrived, it was announced that the exercises would be concluded in the evening by a spelling match at the theatre, where the prizes would also be distributed.

The crowded theatre in the evening demonstrated the interest taken by the public of Barkerville in education. The spelling match was well contested, and was finally won by Master John Houser. Judge Cornwall being present, kindly consented to present the prizes to the successful pupils.

In addition to the rolls of honor, a very handsome selection of prize books was presented.

The following is the prize list:

ROLL OF HONOR.

Proficiency—Mary A. Nason.
Punctuality—Margaret Houser.
Fifth Class—Mary A. Nason, William Houser, John Houser, Wm. Kelly, Mary A. House, Chas. Houser.

Fourth Class—Roberta Nason, Annie Simcock.
Third Class—Margaret Houser, Jeannette Houser, Arthur Kelly, I. B. Nason.
Second Class—Ingis Kelly, Joseph House, Sewell Nason.

Second Primer Class—Ada Houser, Gordon Mason.

First Primer Class—Tiny Mason, Wesley C. House, Ah Hoo.

The following special prizes were also awarded: Silver medal, for proficiency, presented by trustees, Miss Mary A. Nason; silver medal, for deportment, presented by trustees, Miss Jeannette House; special prize, for arithmetic, gold specimen, presented by Mr. Jos. Mason, M. P. P., Wm. Houser; special prize for writing, gold specimen, presented by Mr. S. H. Rogers, M. P. P., Mary House; special prize for second in proficiency, presented by Mr. I. B. Nason, Wm. Houser; prize to winner of spelling match, presented by Mr. I. B. Nason, John Houser; second prize for spelling, Mary Nason; second prize for writing, W. Kelly.

The recognition badges and medals to those who wrote stories for the Canada prize competition, were also presented.

The following were the recipients: Mary Nason, Bertie Nason, Lottie Brown and Mary House, and Wm. Houser, John Houser, Geo. R. Shaw and David R. Shaw.

At the conclusion of the presentation of the prizes, Judge Cornwall made a few happy remarks, complimenting the parents, pupils and teacher upon the highly satisfactory results of the examination.

Addresses were also given by Messrs. Rogers, Stone, Watt and McDermott.

A vote of thanks was tendered the givers of the special prizes, and also to Judge Cornwall for kindly distributing them, after which a lively song by the pupils concluded the evening's exercises.

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

The most serious fire that has visited Seattle this year occurred Monday night. Colman block, at the south-west corner of West and Marion streets—a two-story corrugated iron building, 120x110 feet in size—with almost its entire contents was destroyed. The loss will reach $80,000, covered by an insurance of about $35,000.

A Paris dispatch says that later advices regarding the shooting of a French inhabitant of Gilroy by a German sentry show that four residents of that place had gone 150 meters into German territory when the sentry fired upon them, wounding a man named Claudet. The wound is not serious.

The owners of a traveling show, which included among its animals a number of bears, have been arrested at Thengshing, Hungary, on a charge of murdering a man and throwing his body to the bears, who devoured it.

NAGARA FALLS, N.Y., July 4.—John L. Soules, of Michigan, attempted to swim the rapids of Niagara river to-day; but after going down them four hundred yards, he was thrown ashore by an immense billow. One of his legs had been injured by striking a rock and he was forbidden to re-enter the water to complete the journey. He will try it again.

BETHLEHEM, July 4.—The American riflemen visiting here, gave a banquet at the Kaiserhoff hotel this evening in honor of the anniversary of American independence. President Weber occupied the chair. Among the guests were Minister Phelps and wife, John J. Knox and other prominent Americans, and many German riflemen. Minister Phelps delivered a speech, in which he glorified America and lauded President Harrison, who, he said, saw the full sweep of his country's prosperity, and was neither dazzled nor shaken up, but kept his poise as rugged and firm as Washington. The Berlin independents gave a two hours' concert on the balcony of the Kaiserhoff hotel this morning, commencing at 9 o'clock. Many American ladies and gentlemen were present. Among the airs played were "Hail Columbia," "The Watch on the Rhine," and "Heil Dir Ein Seigerkranz."

NEIGHBORLY FEELING.

It is pleasant to observe the good feeling that exists between the citizens of Victoria and their neighbors across the national boundary. On Dominion Day American citizens flocked to Victoria to help us celebrate our national holiday pleasantly. They were warmly welcomed and, we hope, well treated. On the Fourth, Victorians returned the compliment. Every steamer was filled with good British subjects bound to spend a pleasant day with their American cousins, and more than one steamer was specially chartered to convey excursionists across the straits. The welcome given them by their neighbors was truly fraternal. They did everything they could to make the Britishers feel at home—and they succeeded admirably. Greetings and compliments were interchanged, toasts were drunk, games were played, and good fellowship was the order of the day. This is as it ought to be. Neighbors should be neighborly. The accident of their living under different governments should not cause men of the same race to treat each other as aliens and strangers. The Fourth, too, was kept as a holiday in Victoria itself. The Scotchmen held their games in the park. A large number of citizens went there and elsewhere to have a good time. In the afternoon many of the stores were closed and the town had quite a holiday appearance. Victoria is without doubt the most cosmopolitan of the cities of the Dominion.

A STRANGE STORY.

The late papers contain a strange story about the Behring's Sea negotiations. The information, it is said, comes from a reliable source. It appears that an understanding was arrived at by the negotiators relative to the nature and extent of United States jurisdiction in Behring's Sea. How the seal-fishery should be regulated was the only subject under discussion. To arrive at rational conclusions the evidence of experts was called in and there was every indication that a settlement would be made without much trouble. At this stage of the negotiations the Alaska Company interfered. They were given to understand in some way that their monopoly would be infringed upon if the settlement was confirmed, and at their instance the negotiations came to a standstill. Mr. Blaine was plainly told that the proposed arrangement would not be accepted, and the matter was taken out of his hands. It was then that the President's proclamation was published and sealers warned not to enter Behring's Sea. The cruisers were also fitted out with a good deal of parade, and it was said that their commanders had received peremptory orders to board all vessels found seal hunting in Behring's Sea, to take from them the skins they contained, to seize upon all fire-arms, and to dismantle the ships. It was supposed that Great Britain would do nothing more than protest against these high handed measures. But here it appears the Americans found they were mistaken. Lord Salisbury, it is said, took a firm stand, and in effect told the American minister that his Government would, if necessary, protect vessels sailing under the British flag in Behring's Sea by force. This unexpected determination caused the President to hesitate. The telegram goes on to say the negotiations are restored to the Secretary of State who improvised a proposal designed to cover a retreat not necessitated by himself, and to put the question back to a normal and proper situation." The author of the statement confidently predicts that there will be no more trouble in Behring Sea. It is expected that within the next ten or twelve days the negotiations will be so far advanced that new sailing orders will be issued to the Rush and Corwin which vessels will then resume their interrupted voyages to Behring Sea, but not to exercise a disputed jurisdiction." He also intimates that the whole question will be submitted to the arbitration of some disinterested power or sovereign, possibly Pope Leo XIII. It will soon be seen how much truth there is in this statement.

A FEDERAL ELECTION LAW.

It is found that the election laws do not work well in all the United States—that owing to intimidation and corrupt practices the people are not permitted fairly and freely to express their wishes at the polls. In order to ensure elections for the President and members of the House of Representatives being legally conducted, a national election bill has been introduced into Congress. There is going to be a hot fight over it. Although it can be applied to all the States, it is intended to secure fair elections in the South. It is therefore opposed by nearly all the representatives of the South, Republican as well as Democratic. The Democrats, as a party, oppose it resolutely, and the Republicans give it their hearty support.

The opponents of the measure declare that it is a device to put the election of Federal representatives into the hands of the party in power. The chief supervisor of elections is an appointee of the Federal Government, the supervisors are appointed by this Federal officer, and he also appoints the deputy marshals. The Board of Canvassers is to be appointed by the Circuit Court. The whole machinery of the election will be in the hands of the Federal Government, and everyone knows that when there is a party end to be gained they are not by any means scrupulous. Strong party men are generally actuated by the principles set forth by Senator Ingalls with such earnestness and vigor. It will be noticed that the elections will be carried on altogether independently of the State authorities. All that they will have to do besides casting their votes will be to look on and see how the elections are engineered by the Federal officials. To be mere spectators in a theatre in which they have hitherto been the actors will not be very pleasant for them. The law, if it is carried through Congress, is, in a measure, optional. The Federal machinery is to be set in motion on the petition of one hundred voters in any congressional district.

CENSUS COMPLAINTS.

Complaints are made in the American newspapers about the way in which the census is taken. It is said that the enumerators are underpaid, and that they are paid in such a way as to encourage carelessness and neglect. They get so much a word. Where the people are numerous and easily found the enumerator makes fair wages, but where they are scattered and where it takes a good deal of time to get a few names, the work is slighted. The supervision, it is alleged, is inadequate. The supervisor cannot tell whether the enumerators have done their work well and faithfully or not, and he has no means of checking their returns. The enumerator is, therefore, virtually irresponsible. If he performs his duties honestly he has the approbation of his own conscience, but he is not rewarded for his fidelity; if he goes through his work in such a way as to make the most money in the shortest time, without having any particular regard to strict accuracy or thoroughness, there is no one to call him to account and no means of finding out to what extent he has slighted his work. With machinery so defective it is impossible to take the census accurately. The enumerator will be certain to miss a very considerable proportion of the floating population, and the totals will be pretty sure to be below the actual number of the inhabitants.

However, if all the stories are true, there is a corrective to this deficiency caused by imperfect arrangements. Some of the cities, it appears, have deliberately and with fraud and forethought, falsified the census. Individuals desirous of booming their respective cities have manufactured spurious returns. They have found inmates for empty houses and created occupants for vacant offices besides resorting to other fraudulent devices. Minneapolis has been accused of having gone into the business of padding the census and so has Tacoma. Seattle considers itself injured by Tacoma's dark ways and vain tricks and protests vehemently. The Post-Intelligencer, of that city, declares that:

"The census is worse than a farce—it is a fraud. It is doubtful if a fair count was made in any town of this western district of Washington. The result in Seattle speaks for itself. Here the enumeration was shamefully deficient. The evidence of hundreds now coming in is not necessary to demonstrate that the total is at least one-fourth short of the number of actual residents. In a few other places the count has been deficient; but in many more it has been prodigiously inflated to answer the demands of town boomers. The Post-Intelligencer has positive evidence that this charge is true."

It is to be hoped that the Canadian authorities will avoid the errors into which the United States Government has fallen; and no one supposes for a moment that there are men in this Dominion so completely abandoned and so utterly unscrupulous as, for the sake of booming their particular town, to tamper with the census returns.

THE WORLD'S CITIES.

We have seen that three of the cities of the United States have each a population of over a million—one of them, New York, of more than a million and a half. This is a wonderful result considering the comparatively short period that the territory which is now the United States has been occupied by civilized men. There are very few cities even in the Old World which have a population of a million or more than a million. The population of London is considerably in excess of four millions. It is undoubtedly the largest city in the world. Paris has a population of about 2,500,000. The population of Berlin in 1885 was 1,315,297. Vienna in 1880 had upwards of 1,100,000 inhabitants, and St. Petersburg's population is estimated to be 1,100,000. So there are only eight cities in the world which have over a million of inhabitants, and three of them are in the United States. They are:—

London.....	4,351,738
Paris.....	2,500,000
Berlin.....	1,315,297
Vienna.....	1,300,000
St. Petersburg.....	1,100,000
New York.....	1,027,227
Chicago.....	1,085,000
Philadelphia.....	1,040,499

It was believed that some of the cities of Asia were very large, indeed, Peking was credited with a population of millions, and Nankin and Canton were supposed to be not very far behind the capital. But it has been found that not one of them contains even one million of inhabitants. Tokio was supposed some years ago to be an immense human hive, having in it a swarm of men and women which it would be difficult to number. It has been found that the population of this city does not exceed half a million. In Asia growth has ceased, and in Europe it is, except in a few especially favored places, slow, but in America growth, and rapid growth, will go on for a considerable time longer. It still contains vast spaces that may be said to be uninhabited, and it possesses vast resources which are yet awaiting development. Its cities will therefore continue to expand, and new cities will keep on springing up for a long time to come.

A NEW REPUBLIC.

Brazil appears to have been getting on as well as could be expected under its provisional Government. There has been a little uneasiness in that country and some financial stringency, but we read of no very glaring abuse of power. The new Constitution has been framed, revised and corrected. It is strictly Republican. The Constitution of the United States has evidently been the model taken by its framers. The head of the Executive is the President, who is to be elected for six years instead of four. There is to be a House of Representatives and a Senate. The representative is to be elected for three years and the senator for nine. The Cabinet is not to be responsible in the British sense. Its members are to be selected by the President and they are responsible to him alone. Congress is to elect the first President; when his term expires, or when the Presidential chair is vacant from any other cause, the next President is to be elected by the popular vote. The House of Representatives and the Senate are to be elected in November next, and a constitutional Government will be appointed. The new Constitution is not to be submitted to the people for approval. Congress, we presume, will have power to modify it.

If the elections in November next pass off peacefully, the revolution in Brazil will be accomplished quietly and bloodlessly. The Brazilians appear to be republican in sentiment, for they acquiesced in the deposition of Dom Pedro without a sign of disapproval, and they have lived quietly under the provisional Government, which has the direction of affairs until the Republic is established. There never was such a peaceful unexciting revolution as that which within the last year has taken place in Brazil. It is more than probable that there are thousands in the country itself who do not know that any change has been made in the Government. When these simple people realize that the Emperor has been dethroned and a Republic has been quietly established, they will be amazed to find that so great a change could have been made with so very little disturbance. The indications are that Brazil is a country which it is easy to govern, and that the new Republic will have a quiet infancy.

Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S

CHLOROXYNE.

THE ORIGINAL and ONLY GENUINE Advice to Invalids—If you wish to obtain relief from pain and anguish, to calm and refresh sleep, free from headache, assuage the weary aching of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media, and regulate the circulating system of the body, you will find yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Browne (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLOROXYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.
CHLOROXYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Rheumatism, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Menstrual, etc.
CHLOROXYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.
CHLOROXYNE is the only palliative in Neuritis, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Menstrual, etc.
"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from Mr. Malins's Consul in Manila, to the effect that Cholera had been raging furiously, and that the ONLY remedy of any service was CHLOROXYNE—See "Lancet," December 31, 1884.
CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was, undoubtedly, the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, was a liberally untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to—See "The Times," July 13, 1884.
Sold in bottles at 1s, 1ld., 2s, 3d., 4s, 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine unless the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. CAUTION—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.
Sole manufacturer—J. T. DAVENPORT, 33 Great Russell-square, Bloomsbury, London.

The Colored "Jenny Lind."

Miss Batson, the colored Jenny Lind, assisted by Professor Sharpe and several amateurs, will sing on Tuesday evening in Pandora avenue church, for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Association.

Unsanitary Deposits.

It is bitterly complained that some persons will persist in depositing all kinds of foul material in James Bay. This ought to be stopped, for, as one gentleman said, it is almost impossible to pass the place without hermetically sealing one's nose with a patent clothes peg.

Home Sweet Home.

These are said to be almost the best words in the English language, but what is a home without tasty furniture and nice carpets, etc. Now, we wish to give you a pointer. You can get just such necessities of home comfort to better advantage at James Hastie & Co.'s, No. 62 Government street, than any other house in the city.

Teachers' Examinations.

The examination of candidates for teachers' certificates, class B, opened yesterday morning at the High School, the examiners previously mentioned having charge of the proceedings. Contrary to expectation, there were only nine aspirants for the honor of passing the examination.

A Coming Event.

"The Wicked World," a companion play to "Pygmalion and Galatea," is to be presented under rehearsal by Mr. Adderley for production on the 4th and 5th August. The combination is in the main the same as that which played the latter piece; it promises to be strong, faithful, and not without some ability taken as a whole.

W. C. T. U. Reception.

To-morrow evening the members and friends of the W. C. T. U., in this city, will meet at the Temperance hall to extend a welcome to Rev. Coverdale Watson, the new and yet old pastor of Wesley church. Music and refreshments will be provided and no admission fee will be charged.

Accidental Drowning.

An inquest upon the body of Andrew White was held last evening by Coroner Morrison, when the usual finding of "Death by Accidental Drowning" was presented. The funeral of the late member of the Ritchie's crew will be taken charge of this morning by the C. P. N. Co. The deceased had a mother living near Edinburgh, Scotland, who has been communicated with.

Telephoned from Esquimalt.

A new line kilm is about to be constructed at Esquimalt, in which wharves will be built to provide shipping facilities.
Ship Queen Victoria completed ballasting yesterday preparatory to going to Tacoma to load for the United Kingdom.
Mrs. Fisher, of the Globe hotel, has left on a two months' visit to her old home, Prince Edward Island.
H.M.S. Champion and Espegie are expected to enter dock almost as soon as the Nymph and Dolphin come out.
A brick building to be used as a filling house is being erected on Magazine Island.

An Elegant Residence.

Mr. T. Hooper, architect, of this city, has just completed the plans and specifications for a very handsome and commodious residence which is shortly to be erected for Mr. J. Dougall, at the corner of Cooke and Bellot streets. It is of wood and in composite architecture, and will measure 45 feet by 41 feet. It will be set back 48 feet from the street and is situated on grounds 220 feet square, surrounded by a neat picket fence. The approach from the entrance gates on Cook street is had by a semi-circular drive. At either end of the house are two large circular bay windows, the one surmounted by a turret rising to a height of three stories and capped by a peak. The roof is one of the ordinary pitch design. The dwelling proper consists of two stories and a basement, six feet six inches high; the foundations being of brick cemented. An extensive verandah occupies the front and passes round the sides, supported by ornamental posts. Mr. Dougall to all appearances has made up his mind to have a fine house and to this end is devoting a considerable amount of money.

Gold Mining.

There are a number of samples of ore at present in the assay office awaiting treatment. They are mainly from the Mainland, and some of them give promise of being very rich. A gentleman who happened to be in the place when The Colonist reporter was taking stock of the chemicals, crucibles, retorts and other appliances of the establishment, remarked that there was a bigger day coming than had ever been seen for mining the precious metals in British Columbia. As an old miner, he had some slight idea of the magnitude of the country's resources in this respect, but he was convinced that the highest anticipations would utterly fail to appreciate what was in store, when mining was engaged in scientifically and as a matter of organized business, with every facility at its disposal rather than in the desultory manner in which it was at present carried on. To his mind much of the future of the Province lay locked up in the depths of the mountains. Quoting an article from a recent copy of "Money," an English publication, he went on to say: "The antiferrous ores which have been discovered of late years, and croppings of which have been assayed with satisfactory results, indicate that when proper depth is attained, gold and silver quartz mining will promptly come to the front. It is common knowledge that the great silver belt, which runs in a northwesterly direction through Mexico into Colorado, Wyoming, Nevada and Idaho, extends into British Columbia.

If official pronouncements and the opinion of independent experts carry weight, British Columbia possesses the highest possibilities for successful mining enterprise. Her mineral deposits include gold, silver, copper, iron, lead, platinum, antimony, bismuth and plumbago."

Very Unfair.

It is reported that from and after the first of August, a reduction is to be made in the salaries of the clerical staff of the Victoria post office. An effort should be made at once toward the prevention of such action. The salaries paid are much too small now, and could but poorly stand any cutting.

Northward Bound.

The steamer Umatilla sailed from San Francisco for Victoria and Puget Sound points yesterday morning with the following passengers for this city: A. Munn, J. A. Murray, J. A. Blair, J. T. Rooney, A. Rothchild, G. Gilmer, Miss T. Gilmer, Miss Mary Cutler, H. B. Meyer, Miss E. Lovejoy, Mrs. F. Weeden and M. Fitzgerald.

Beer and Fireworks.

Some far-seeing individual, looking forward to a private celebration of his own, yesterday got through the Caledonian ground fence and abstracted from the store several bottles of liquor and some boxes of fireworks. The whereabouts of himself or the articles appropriated is unknown, but the police have got him on the list and he's sure not to be missed.

An Echo of the Courier.

In the Supreme Court to-morrow the suit of two members of the late Nanaimo Courier Co. against a third will be disposed of. The action is brought to compel the third to pay a share of a note given to the bank on account of an overdraft. He claims that money was subsequently deposited sufficient to cover the overdraft, and that consequently he is not responsible if it was devoted to other purposes.

The Class Formed.

The meeting held last evening in Temperance hall, with a view to establishing an elocution class under Professor Adderley, was very successful. The class number was forthcoming, and the lessons will commence at once. The present idea is to master the principles of elocution and the art of debating, and ultimately to institute a debating society or "mock parliament." A few more members are eligible but the number is limited.

The Atlantic Express.

Or train number four of the Northern Pacific Railway, now carries a magnificent Pullman Vestibuled Sleeping Car from Portland to Chicago, via Tacoma, Spokane Falls, Helena, Livingston, (Yellowstone Park,) St. Paul, and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway. This is absolutely the quickest and best route in every particular between the points named. In purchasing tickets do not fail to bear this in mind.

Music and Marriage Bells.

Miss Flora Batson, of New York, the colored Jenny Lind, assisted by some of our best local talent, will give a concert in Pandora street Methodist church on Tuesday evening, 8th July. Tickets will be 50 cts.; children, 25 cts. A well-founded rumor says that Miss Batson's closing number will be "Marriage Bells." Immediately following this Cupid will lead to the altar a happy couple, for whom the marriage ceremony will be performed by Pastor Watson.

Youthful Predators.

The example of the Caffra boys on the juvenile population has not been lost. Today's issue contains an account of one family whose home, quiet has been disturbed by the obstinate refractoriness of one boy who now occupies a cell in the provincial jail. Another is likely to join him on Monday. His parents are highly respectable, and his home is all that a boy could wish for, but the admonitions and kindness of the former are disregarded and the advantages of the latter despised. The father, unable to do anything with him, took him to the police station for safe keeping, last evening, and will ask advice of the magistrate to-morrow as to the best course of treatment to pursue.

"H. M. S. Pinareo" in Seattle.

Professor Adderley has made final arrangements with Mrs. Storey to proceed to Seattle, about the 6th August, to produce "H. M. S. Pinareo" with a troupe composed of members of the local Philharmonic Society. The arrangements are to be on a very elaborate and costly scale. A large float will be fitted up as a ship and utilized for the performance, indeed everything will be carried out on principles characteristic of the American people, who never deprive themselves of any pleasure when it is only a matter of dollars and cents involved. The lady director of the society is very enterprising and practical, and in her Mr. Adderley will have an able and encouraging coadjutor.

University of British Columbia.

For some days there has appeared an advertisement informing British and Colonial University graduates who have been resident in the province for two months, prior to the 26th April, 1890, that until the 26th inst., they may enter their names as members of convocation of the University of British Columbia. So far about thirty gentlemen have availed themselves of the opportunity, and there are numerous others who have so signified their intentions. The act thus describes the qualifications of members of convocation: "All bachelors and Masters of Arts, all bachelors of law, licentiates of law, doctors of law, bachelors and doctors of science, bachelors and masters of applied science, all bachelors, licentiates and doctors of medicine." The registration fee is $2. The convocation was in 1889, when mining was engaged in scientifically and as a matter of organized business, with every facility at its disposal rather than in the desultory manner in which it was at present carried on. To his mind much of the future of the Province lay locked up in the depths of the mountains. Quoting an article from a recent copy of "Money," an English publication, he went on to say: "The antiferrous ores which have been discovered of late years, and croppings of which have been assayed with satisfactory results, indicate that when proper depth is attained, gold and silver quartz mining will promptly come to the front. It is common knowledge that the great silver belt, which runs in a northwesterly direction through Mexico into Colorado, Wyoming, Nevada and Idaho, extends into British Columbia.

NOTES.

The Presbyterian General Assembly lately held in Toronto is described as remarkable, not only for the number of commissioners present, but in the special matters discussed, the liveliness of the debates and the far-reaching nature of the conclusions arrived at, not to speak of the unusually protracted session. The Assembly inaugurated the appointment of a paid foreign missionary secretary, but it declined to establish a Jewish mission in Palestine although there was a large vote in favor of beginning at once. The Presbyterian Review is scarcely satisfied with the delay and says: "The door is opening, but let us not waste time by loitering on the threshold." The Assembly decisively determined to resist in every constitutional way ultra montane pretensions wherever manifesting themselves.

According to the Christian Intelligence the range of ministers' salaries in New York is from $2,500 to $10,000 a year; in Brooklyn about $4,000, but outside the large cities the range is from $800 to $1,500. The Pan Presbyterian Council will hold its next meeting in Toronto in 1892. The gifts to Princeton University last year amounted to about $250,000. The American Presbyterian Church has forwarded a contribution of $250 to the Manitoba College.

NORTHERN SALMON.

An Average Pack Being Put Up—Fillers Hard to Find—News by the Boscewitz.

Late on Friday night the steamer Barbara Boscewitz, Capt. Williams, returned from another safe and pleasant trip to the North. Dick's surveying party from Alert Bay, and two or three white passengers came down, and the hold was filled with boxwood and Indians.

On the Naas, canning operations are temporarily quiet, the spring run of salmon having ended and the sockeyes scarcely started. On the Skeena the sockeyes are running well. McLellan, on the Naas, has now 2,500 cases up; and the Skeena canneries—Cunningham's, the British American, Windsor, Balaoral, North Pacific, Inverness and Standard—run from 1,000 to 1,300 each. Each of the canners expects to put up about 15,000 cases, average pack, as the light business of the Alaska canneries is expected to ease the market sufficiently to restore the balance of prices.

About 25 Naas and twenty Alert Bay Indians came down on the Boscewitz, all bound for the Fraser river. Their services were required at the Northern canneries, but they can get better money on the Fraser and in several instances their fares and expenses were paid for them. The Naas and Skeena people are meeting with a new and serious difficulty in a shortage of fillers. This season, most of the fishing is done by contract, and the Indian fishermen utilize the klootchmen as boat pullers, which takes them away from inside work in the canneries.

No news had been received of the fate of the wrecked Sardonix at any of the ports called at; the Louise was passed, bound up, at Oliver's mill, all well aboard. Neither of the candidates for political honors is doing anything, the attention of all being monopolized by the salmon, and the Cassiar election promises to be an exceptionally tame affair.

ENJOYING A TRIP.

The Little Three-Year-Old Runaway Returns on the City of Kingston.

Yesterday was full of trouble and anxiety for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baby of 14 Cadboro Bay road. Their little three-year-old pet, who was lost on Friday evening, was nowhere to be found. The entire neighborhood had been hunted over again and again, but no trace of the lost darling could be found. The police, ready and willing to be of service, could find no trace of the lost one; and the grief-stricken mother was almost frantic. It was believed that the child had been taken care of by some kind stranger, who would see the item in the newspapers and bring the baby home. As the day grew older this hope began to fade, and no tidings of their child came to relieve the parents until about five o'clock, when the police received a telegram from the Chief of Police of Seattle, with the news that the little one was on board the City of Kingston, homeward bound. The father was communicated with, and was at the dock to welcome the little traveller when the Kingston was made fast. Running away from his home at the upper end of Fort street, baby had come down to the wharf and got on board the Kingston just before she sailed. He was not discovered until several minutes after Victoria was left behind, and Capt. Roberts concluded that the best he could do was to care for him until he returned from Tacoma, which he did.

JUBILEE HOSPITAL.

Matters of Minor Importance Disposed of by the Directors Yesterday Afternoon.

There was plenty of talking, but no very great amount of work done at the special meeting of the Jubilee hospital directors held in the office of the president, Mr. Thomas R. Smith, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Smith was in the chair, and seven members of the board were present. The telegram received from Miss McMillan, of Kingston, declining the appointment of matron and head nurse, was read, and after a brief discussion it was unanimously resolved to give the position to Miss Summerville, late of the Manchester and Livermole hospitals, who has been for several weeks in Victoria, and will enter upon the duties almost immediately.
The appointment of Mr. F. H. Garland as house steward was next confirmed, and the board passed to the consideration of Mr. H. E. Crossdale's offer to loan $15,000 to the hospital at 7 per cent., on mortgage. The offer was accepted.
As Sunday, the 13th inst., will be hospital Sunday in Christ Church Cathedral, the secretary has addressed the pastors of the other city churches, asking them to also make the day of special benefit to this deserving charity, and it is hoped and expected that all will fall in with the invitation.

ASPHALT PAVING.

Following is a copy of the communication sent by the Pacific Asphalt Co. to the Mayor and Council at the last meeting of the board. As the figures of the company's tender have been incorrectly published, the letter is now published in full:

To His Worship the Mayor and Board of Aldermen:
GENTLEMEN:—In a communication addressed to you and dated May 2nd, 1890, we had the honor to lay before you an offer for the continuation of the asphalt paving laid in Tronche alley to Broad and Government streets at the rate of $20 per square yard. From the reply of the city clerk, we understand that the matter was referred to the street committee. We have not to the present time any further communication from your honorable body on the subject, although Alderman Harrison in conversation had informed Mr. Coogan that the committee had decided to offer fifty cents for the performance of this work, about one-half the price asked, as they could not afford any more, but to our great surprise, on the 29th June we found the work being carried on of an inferior quality and at greater cost, and against the expressed wish of the property-holders who had just put down asphalt; as far as we had been informed by the order of Alderman Harrison, without any authority from the council. While willing and anxious to submit our work to any fair competition with any other material, we respectfully request information as to the means by which on a communication referring to asphalt work only, the street committee or any member of the street committee can lay down an entirely different and more expensive material. Yours truly,
J. E. CRANE,
Secretary Pacific Asphalt Company.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

BAT, BALL AND STUMPS.

The rain of Saturday forenoon spoiled sport on the hill, although the afternoon was delightfully fine and fresh. The two cricket clubs played scratch games for practice; neither of them speak as they pass by, but it is more than evident that the young club possesses men who pitch a nasty ball and swing a capital bat. There was close, good practice in both clubs.

CYCLING.

If Mr. Mason of Vancouver is anxious to make a race with a 52 inch wheel man, Minor of the Wanderers is ready at any time to meet him.

A neat club banner is what the Island Wanderers require most to make their parades complete. Which of the lady friends of the boys will step forward.

In all probability the grand meet and tournament that has long been talked off by the Island Wanderers will be held in conjunction with the Provincial Exhibition here. It would be a great attraction, and would draw visitors from every part of the coast. Westminster is to have four bicycle races in connection with the fall exhibition there.

THE RIFLE.

The usual weekly practice match of the Victoria riflemen was shot yesterday afternoon at Clover Point range, with a strong right wind, which ruined all possibility of good scores. The following were the results of the day:

TENNIS.

BASEBALL.

THE ANITY-TOWNSEND GAME.

The Anity Baseball club, in company with a large number of excursionists, returned from Port Townsend by the Kingston last evening. They all had a good time, having taken in all the sights of the "Key City" of the Sound.

The fourth was celebrated in the usual way, by salutes, a parade, oration, bombs, fire-crackers, baseball match and a grand barbecue, in which an ox was roasted entire.

The baseball game was witnessed by about 2,500 people, and was declared one of the best that has ever been played in Townsend. But little money was wagered on the result, as it was known that new blood had been secured at considerable expense to strengthen the Townsend nine.

The game was called at 3 p. m., with Mills in the box for the Anities. He was not, however, in his usual form, and the Townsends rapped out three "two-baggers," which, combined with the errors of Wild-dowson and Wishart, gave the Townsends 3 runs in the inning.

For the Anities Jackson and Geo. C. crossed the plate. These two runs were the only ones the visitors were destined to make until the 8th innings, when, with Jackson on 2nd, Hannon knocked a two-bagger.

The Anities played a good fielding game, but were unable to launch their hits when most needed.

Jackson played a strong game at short; in the 9th he relieved Mills and shut out the Townsends, not allowing one of them to reach 1st base. Gus. Gowen also played a fine game in left field, taking in every chance that came his way.

The following is the score:—

After the game, the Townsend team entertained their visitors at dinner, and a merry time was had by all. Manager Baker endeavored to arrange a game for the following morning, but without success. A return match will probably be played on Beacon Hill in the course of a few weeks.

THE GUN.

Possibly it will be of interest to shooters to know how their shot settles after leaving the muzzle, and perhaps the following may account for the disappointment felt when you know you just got below where that bird ought to be at the time. It may also account for what you call luck and think you have missed an opportunity, then suddenly see a pair of wings collapse and come to grass. The following paragraph is from Frank Leslie's Illustrated Paper: "When standing within a few yards of the gun's muzzle at the time of discharge, a person would be amazingly astonished were he only able to see the shot as they go whizzing by. Experiments in instantaneous photography have proved to us that the shot not only spreads out, comet-like, as they fly, but they string out one behind the other to a much greater distance than they spread. Thus, with a cylinder gun, when the first shot of a charge reaches a target that is forty yards away, the last shot is lagging along ten yards behind. Even with the choke-bore gun, some of the shot will lag behind eight yards in forty. This accounts for the wide swath that is mown in a flock of ducks on which a charge of shot falls just right. About five per cent. only of the charge of shot arrives simultaneously at the target, but the balance of the first half of the charge is so close behind that a bird's muscles are not quick enough to get out of the way, although those who have watched sitting birds when shot at have often seen them start as if to fly when the leading shot whistled by them, only to drop dead as they were overtaken by the leaden hail."

LITTLE QUARRELS BREED BIG.

YOU just bring a couple of little quarrels into your family and they'll breed like sparrows, and you just bring a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters into your house and see how quickly health and strength follow its use. Nothing excels it for strengthening, regulating and purifying power.

Outcasts.

It is only truly high minded persons who are incapable of "taking down" their more fortunate acquaintances. Moreover, envy seems to manifest itself among children in quite the same manner in which it can be observed with older people.

When the squadron of evolution was recently in Boston, Admiral Walker invited two boys of his acquaintance to go on board ship and visit him. The boat was sent for them, and, with flags flying and in a state which filled their souls with joy, they were taken on board at a time when the general public was not admitted, and there were shown about with the greatest care.

During the next few days the amount of bragging which they did in the presence of their school fellows was by no means small. The other boys were willing to listen until all their questions had been answered, and then, boy like, they devoted themselves to taking down the pride of the favored youths.

One day, about a week after the visit to the squadron, one of the little fellows came home in spirits so evidently downcast that his mother asked him what was the matter.

"I don't care," was the somewhat illogical reply, "I think the boys are just as mean as they can be."

"But what is the matter?" "Well, you see, they are down on Tommy and me because we had a chance to go on the Chicago when they didn't, and they are grinding us."

"Grinding you?" repeated the mother. "What are they doing?" "Why," was the aggrieved answer, "we are playing history games, and all the other boys are kings and knights and generals, and they won't let Tommy and me be anything but outcasts."

A Wonderful Electrical Plant.

India, the land of poisonous serpents, immense jungles, fabulous wealth, fevers, cholera and mysticism, has again come to the front through the recent discovery of a strange plant with magnetic powers equal to a Brush dynamo. To attempt to pull a leaf from this marvelous plant is to invite an electric shock equal to that produced by an induction coil. If a compass be held within six meters of this lightning charged vegetable the needle acts as strangely as if it were being held above the true magnetic pole. Its electrical qualities, however, do not cause more amazement than the wonderful variation of its magnetic powers, which are most manifest at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, gradually diminishing until at midnight or between midnight and 2 a. m., when it can hardly be noticed.

Day after day these wonderful changes take place, the plant gradually losing its magnetism as the darkness becomes more intense only to have the current renewed with seeming increased vigor as the sun mounts the tropical skies. A thunder storm augments its peculiar qualities a dozen fold and, even though sheltered, it drops its leaves and branches as if in the last convulsions of death. Birds and insects shun the plant as do the natives of Java the deadly upas tree. One would naturally suppose that the plant would be found growing in a region abounding in magnetic metals; the contrary is the case. There is neither iron, cobalt nor nickel found in the home of the wonderful magnetic plant.—St. Louis Republic.

An African Superstition.

In the country at the back of Lukolela there are some powerful but peaceable tribes, at the head of whom is a chief who has rather a unique superstition, which is that he must not see the river Congo. He is now an old man, close on to 70 years; but neither himself nor his father before him has ever seen the river. He has the impression that the day he sees the river will decide the day of his funeral. He will go down within a few miles of it, but never runs the slightest risk of catching a glimpse. Among these people there is a custom that a big chief in a district, on having proved to the satisfaction of the assembled chiefs that he is the wealthiest, and, physically speaking, the strongest, is invested with the order of the Tall Hat. This resembles very much the stovepipe hat of civilized life, only with the brim at the top, and is made of plaited fiber.—Herbert Ward in New York Ledger.

Women Who Receive Big Salaries.

Miss Van Vranken, a native of New York, is one of four or five ladies in the treasury who receive a salary of $1,800. She is connected with the law division, and prepares briefs in compromise cases among her other duties. She has been employed since 1865, but passed the requirements of a clerk in the civil service commission under Gen. Grant.

Miss Seavey, who is also in the law division, directing the work of a number of clerks, also receives a salary of $1,800.

Miss L. S. Ralston is one of the most capable clerks in the law division. She is a native of New York, is an expert stenographer, and receives $1,600 a year.

The daughter of Corporal Tanner, who served her father as private secretary, occupies the same position in the office of the treasurer, Mr. Huston, and receives $1,800.—Cor. New York Press.

Mr. Thompson, of Hull, writes to The New York Telegram: "It has often been remarked that fish have no voices. Some tench, which I caught in ponds, made a croaking like a frog for a full half hour while in the basket at my shoulder. When the herring is caught it utters a shrill cry like a mouse. Also the gurnard will continue to grunt like a hog some time after he is taken, and, some say, make a noise like a cuckoo, from which he takes one of his country names."

A negro who attempted to rob a store at Palmetto, Ga., thought he would enter by way of the chimney. About half way down he stuck fast and yelled for some one to help him out.

JOY FOR MOTHERS.

Mothers weary, and full of grief,
We come to you with sweet relief;
Fidings or hope to you we bring,
As you bring us the cradle-sing.

Baby is fretful, peevish, cross,
You see your darling with wild toss
From side to side; you cannot tell
Why baby is to-day unwell.

Dear mothers, have you ever thought,
Some foods they eat with danger fraught?
That to your darling one you give
A food on which it cannot live.

Cow's milk, quite often so impure,
Cannot to sleep your dear one lure;
Cotile it brings and other ills,
And pain your loved one's body fills.

Again, you think you'll try with care
Some other relish to prepare,
With which to nourish and relieve
The little one for whom you grieve.

You find 'tis useless and despair;
You sit down with a leaden care,
And see dear baby waste away,
From pain and crying day by day.

Dear mothers, there is now a balm
To nourish baby, and to calm
Its restless feelings, weary frame, Lactated Food's the joyful name.

'Twill strength impart, sweet rest will give;
Your darling baby then will live,
And like a vine will flourish—grow,
And you will joy and comfort know.

"Lactated Food," the mother's joy,
"Lactated Food" will soon destroy
The troubles, cares and burdens great,
Which often mar the marriage state.

A PRICELESS BLESSING IN THE NURSERY.

Violet Reynolds, a little girl, cured by the Recamier Preparations.

SEE WHAT THE RECAMIERS
WILL DO FOR CHILDREN
SUFFERING FROM SKIN DISEASES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13, 1889.

MY DEAR MRS. AYER:—As one of the "Corps of Physicians," employed by the "Evening World" this summer I had occasion to use your "Recamier Cream" and "Almond Lotion" for skin diseases, and found them in many instances most effectively curing several obstinate cases with your Preparations which had resisted all other treatment. In my opinion, your Cream used in connection with your Soap and Almond Meal surpasses anything I have ever used, and leaves nothing to be desired. I am ready to meet or answer personally any question regarding your Preparations and the cases which I have cured by their use.

J. H. LOMBARD, M. D.,
No. 38 St. Mark's Place, New York, City.

What they are and why they are to be Used.

Recamier Cream, which is first of these world famous preparations, is made from the recipe used by Julie Recamier. It is not a cosmetic, but an emollient to be applied at night just before retiring, and to be removed in the morning by bathing freely. It will remove tan and sunburn, pimples, red spots or blotches, and make your face and hands as smooth, as white and as soft as an infant's.

Recamier Balm is a beautifier, pure and simple. It is not a whitewash, and, unlike most liquids, Recamier Balm is exceedingly beneficial and is absolutely imperceptible except in the delicate freshness and youthfulness which it imparts to the skin.

Recamier Lotion will remove freckles and moth patches, is soothing and effectively for any irritation of the cuticle, and is the most delightful of washes for removing the dust from the face after travelling, and is also invaluable to gentlemen to be used after shaving.

Recamier Powder is in three shades, white, flesh and cream. It is the finest powder ever manufactured, and is delicious in the nursery, for gentlemen
after shaving and for the toilet generally.
Recamier Soap is a perfectly pure article, guaranteed free from animal fat.
This soap contains many of the healing
ingredients used in compounding Recamier Cream and Lotion.

The Recamier Toilet Preparations are positively free from all injurious ingredients, and contain neither lead, bismuth nor arsenic. The following certificate is from the eminent Scientist and Professor of Chemistry, Thomas B. Stillman, of the Stevens' Institute of Technology:
40 Broadway, New York, Jan. 1887.

Dear Madam:—Samples of your Recamier Preparations have been analyzed by me. I find that there is nothing in them that will harm the most delicate skin, and which is not authorized by the French Pharmacopoeia as safe and beneficial in preparations of this character.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. B. STILLMAN, M.Sc., Ph. D.

If your druggist does not keep the Recamier Preparations, refuse substitutes.
Let him order for you or order yourself

Funerals in the White House.

A great deal of misinformation is afforded about the number and dates of former funerals from the White House,
and especially from the East parlor.
The most accurate chroniclers agree in the statement that President William Henry Harrison's was the first funeral to be held there. He died April 4, 1841, and the following day the public were admitted to view his remains.

In October, 1842, Mrs. Louisa Tyler, wife of President John Tyler, died at the mansion, and was buried from there. She was the only president's wife to die during her husband's term of office. Mrs. Millard Fillmore died at Willard's Hotel in March, 1859, a few days after vacating the White House as its mistress.

A year and five months after Mrs.
Tyler's death, the first week in March, 1844, the funerals of four victims of the disaster on board the Princeton by the bursting of the gun "Peacemaker" were held in the East parlor.

President Zachary Taylor died in the mansion July 9, 1850, and his remains lay in state several days in the East room and were interred from there with great pomp. A long interregnum in the reign of death was now vouchsafed, until the funeral there of Willie Lincoln in February, 1862, followed by that of his father in April, 1865.
Mrs. Grant's father was buried from the Blue parlor during President Grant's first administration.—Philadelphia Press.

Queer London Names.

Queer names certainly are found in the London general registry of births at Somerset house. For example, young sons of the families of Bath,
Lamb, Jordan, Dew, Dear and Smith are christened respectively, Foot, Pascal, River, Morning, Offspring and Smith Follows. Mr. Cox called his son Arthur Wellesley Wellington Waterloo. Mr. Jewett, a noted hunt-man, named his Edward Byng Tally-Ho Forward. A mortal that was evidently unwelcome is recorded as "One Too Many." Another of the same sort is "Not Wanted James." Children with six to ten names are frequent, but probably the longest name in the world, longer than that of any potentate, is attached to the child of Arthur Pepper, laundryman. The name of his daughter, born 1883, is Anna Bertha Cecilia Diana Emily
Fanny Gertrude Hypathia Inex Jane
Kate Louis Maud Nora Ophelia Quince
Rebecca Starkey Teresa Ulysis (sic)
Venus Winifred Xenophon Yetty Zeus Pepper—one title precisely for every letter of the alphabet.—Chicago Times.

A Queer Sight at a Funeral.

"Well," said the undertaker, as he entered his office, placed his plug hat in a coffin box and placing his feet on a casket stool, commenced polishing a name plate with his silk handkerchief. "I have just seen one of the strangest sights that ever met my eyes.
I had charge of the funeral of a woman, and as the time came when the relatives were to take a last fond look at the face of the deceased two men and a little girl approached and, bending over, kissed the lips of the dead woman. These two men had been husbands of the woman and the little girl was her daughter. The first husband was a negro and the girl was his daughter, while the second and present husband was a white man. The woman was white. I doubt if there was ever a similar case reported, at least, I never heard of one before. There is no mistake, it is a strange story."— Minneapolis Tribune.

Coining a Joke.

"Coining" jokes is a very common figure of speech, but we know of only one instance in which a joke was actually coined—that is, struck from a graven die and issued from a legal mint. The fact is historical and is as follows:

In the year 1679 the Danes advanced with a large force upon Hamburg, but after a siege of considerable duration, seeing but little hope of ultimate success, they finally withdrew and marched back.

Thereupon the Hamburgers caused a medal to be struck in commemoration of the event. On one side of the numismatic curiosity was the inscription "The King of Denmark came before Hamburg. What he gained by it will be seen on the other side."

On the other side there was a total blank.—Youth's Companion.

Decline of the Shellbark.

Not many eastern people, unless they are acquainted with the forests of the Mississippi valley, and more especially those found on the higher Alleghany mountains, know what a really large hickory tree is. The shellbarks of southern Indiana are sometimes 150 feet tall, with trunks four or five feet in diameter, and bare of limbs for seventy or eighty feet, and even larger trees can be found in the still almost untouched forests of eastern Tennessee and western North Carolina.
But those large trees are doomed, and before many years have passed every hickory tree of sufficient size and property quality will have been sacrificed to supply the ever increasing demand for the wood.—Exchange.

A Regular Stamp Market.

There exists in Paris a regular market or exchange for old stamps. It is held every Sunday afternoon in the Avenue Gabriel, Champs Elysees, and is attended by some fifty or sixty persons of all ages and social standings.
Among the number can be seen such famous collectors as M. Philippe de Ferrari, son of the duchess of Galliera;
the Baron Arthur de Rothschild, Dr.
Legrain, Mr. Campbell, Mr. T. Tap-ling, Mr. Castle and M. Marco del Pont.—Paris Letter.

Miss Clara—Good gracious! This is Patrick—Yes, miss. An' the boy at the store said it wor all the ground

pine he had.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

How Edison Made a Bug.

I wonder how many readers ever heard the wonderful story of how Edison made a bug? It happened away back in 1880 or 1881, before the electrician had become a count, and known in the most remote corners of the world. There had been two or three persons killed by the electric wires, and people were seriously contemplating some plan to get them out of the way and still keep the wonderful white light.

Edison proposed that the wires be put in the gas pipes; but how on earth were the pipes to be "threaded" with the electric wires?

After studying the matter one night
Edison said to a fellow electrician:
"Why, see here, Johnson, I'll make a bug that will drag a wire through every foot of pipe in New York city,
if it becomes necessary."

"Make a bug!" exclaimed his companion, thinking the inventor had lost his mind. "What in the world do you mean?"

"Well, I'll make a bug," said the inventor, confidently, "that will go where I send him, and drag a wire, too."

A few days afterward he laid a curiously constructed thing on the table
in the office before time to go to work:
it was his gas pipe bug. It was constructed thus: A minute electro-magnet, carrying behind it a fine insulated wire pawl. Now, observe—every time the circuit was closed through the magnet the armature was attracted, the pawl clutched the sides of a piece of gas pipe provided for the occasion, and the magnet behind was drawn toward the armature about the sixteenth of an inch. When the circuit was opened the armature reached forward ready to take a second step.
Thus, at every closing of the circuit,
the little bug advanced one step, dragging the wire behind. No doubt this description will be hard for non-experts to understand, but as every body knows something about electricity nowadays a tolerably comprehensible idea may be formed of how the bug traveled, even though the reader never saw an electric motor of any kind.—St. Louis Republic.

It Didn't Pay.

In the endeavor to cheat a ragged little bootblack out of one cent a penurious citizen got into the lockup the other afternoon. He had just had his shoes shined on the sidewalk at the Northwestern depot. Pulling out a handful of change, he found four loose pennies, and he gave them to the boy, with the remark:

"Here, sonny, keep the change."
A street car was passing, and the man boarded it before the boy could find his tongue. The angry bootblack chased after the car, while the passenger stood on the rear platform and grinned for the car was going at a rattling pace.

"Fare, sir," said the conductor. The passenger handed over a nickel. The breathless bootblack caught the car just then and clambered on. He demanded the other cent, and the passenger, with an oath, made a motion as if to throw him off. Quick as thought the boy grabbed the hat from the man's head and, dropping off the car, ran with all his might in the opposite direction.

The man had paid his fare, but he got off just the same and gave chase to the boy and the hat. He caught the boy near the depot and was proceeding to pommel him when a muscled citizen, not waiting to learn the merits of the dispute, championed the cause of the weak against the strong, and planted a lion tamer under the fellow's car which sent him rolling in the mud. A crowd gathered, and with it came a policeman. Matters were explained at some length, with the officer as a court of judicial inquiry, with the result that the smart man who tried to get a shine for four cents was given a chance to find a bondsman on a charge of assault and battery.—Chicago Tribune.

What the British Soldier Eats.

The pay of a private soldier of a line infantry regiment—which is the smallest man's rate of pay in the army—is one shilling per diem. In addition to his pay he receives a daily ration of three-quarters of a pound of meat and one pound of white bread.
During peace everything else he requires as food he has to purchase from his daily pay. When on active service he is well fed free of all charge.
There has been a great deal of nonsense talked and written of late about the insufficiency of the soldier's food.
The fact is he gets plenty to eat, but he has to pay for much of it out of his own pocket. Examine any corps of parade, and the plump, ruddy appearance of the men will prove how well he is fed. In addition to the daily rations which I have already described, every company mess purchases tea,
sugar, milk, vegetables, etc., at a daily cost of about 3d. to each man. Most men also buy in their canteens beer, hot sausages, butter, jam and other luxuries. In his recreation room the soldier can be served at all hours with good tea, bread and butter, etc.
The question for the government to consider is how much of the soldier's daily food is to be paid for by the state.

A Mean Woman of Boston.

A woman who has not as yet been whipped of justice is going about from shop to shop and playing a little game of which the profits are moderate but certain. She buys something worth twenty-five cents, pays for it, stands and waits a few minutes and then says:
"I must catch a train and can't wait for my change. I gave you fifty cents, you know. Can't you give me the twenty-cent?" Good natured girls give it if the change which they have in hand enables them to do so, but when the check comes back to them from the cashier they find that she who had to catch a train really gave them twenty-five cents, and it is not to be expected, as they have to make up the deficit from their own pockets.
That they will be equally accommodating again very soon.—Boston

LOCAL.

The captain of the wrecking vessel White-haw reported yesterday, having seen a schooner in the straits which looked like the Carmelite, now some time overdue.

Steamer Princess Louise is due from the North to-morrow.

The Eastern Oregon has been purchased by the Oregon Improvement Company. This transfer disposes of the expectation that she would be placed on the Victoria route, vice the Lark.

The boiler is having her engines and boilers repaired.

Sussex called at the outer wharf last night, landed her pilot, and passed on to Hong Kong. She came up from San Francisco with cargo principally of flour, coal and Naudino, and will return with a tea cargo.

FREIGHT AND TRADE.

Two carloads of corned beef formed the bulk of the King's cargo. The steamer brought two cars flour, one car sugar and one car mixed merchandise.

FOREIGN.

HAMBURG, July 5.—The Augusta Victoria from New York has arrived.

BIG FIRE AT PULLMAN.

Every Business House Burned with One Exception—No Fire Department to Check the Flames.

COLFAX, Wash., July 3.—The entire business portion of Pullman, Wash., was burned this afternoon. There was no fire service, and in order to check the flames, buildings were blown up, but not with avail. The fire started in the heavy roof of the Lumber Bros., and in a moment the building was in flames, which soon communicated to the adjoining buildings. The business portion of Pullman was doomed, there being no fire organization, no water or other apparatus to aid in checking the flames. Two hours after the fire started every business house in town, with one exception, was in ashes. The total loss is $230,000, and the total insurance $121,000.

ALASKA BIGGER THAN BEFORE.

Recent Survey Places the Boundary Twenty-Eight Miles Eastward.

WINNEPEG, July 3.—The Edmonton, N. W. T. Bulletin states that a report was received at Fort Chippewa recently from the north, to the effect that the United States surveyors had established the Hst. meridians which places the boundary between Canada and Alaska twenty-eight miles farther east than it is generally supposed to be. This will transfer a long stretch of the gold-bearing district of the Yukon to the United States, and will also place the Hudson's Bay Company's post of Rupert House outside of British territory.

Every suit is marked in plain figures and 20 per cent. off.

LUCKE FOR HER LOVER.

A Female Forger in Providence Causes a Sensation in Social Circles.

Her Arrest Shocks Her Parents, and The Mother Pleads Insanity for Her Daughter.

PROVIDENCE, July 4.—The arrest of Miss Nettie Clark, of this city, in New York, for forging the name of a Providence merchant was as much of a surprise to her friends in this city as anything could be. She was widely and generally favorably known, and moved in the most fashionable circles. She is an accomplished pianist, having received a European musical education. Her friends did not know of her absence until the dispatch was received in this city to-day, bringing the intelligence that she was in prison. She was a general favorite and has always enjoyed the best of reputations. It is claimed, however, since her arrest, that for two years past the young lady, for some strange reason, has been making every possible effort to raise money. It is not known to what cause the fraud on the bank can be assigned, unless it was due to a desire to meet a young man named Simon A. Smith, who has paid occasional visits to her home and who was supposed to be paying attention to her. He always passed in this city as a student at the Bellevue medical college, New York, and as a native of Thomaston, Ga. Her father, Hon. P. H. Clark, is very wealthy. He is connected with the Providence Trust company on Canal street. He admits having received telegrams stating that his daughter was under arrest in New York. Her parents are both prostrated from the shock of their daughter's disgrace. Mrs. Clark, accompanied by G. W. Williams, an engineer and friend of the family, are supposed to be in New York, investigating the difficulty in which Miss Nettie has become so painfully involved. The mother claims her daughter was deranged when she conceived the idea of raising money fraudulently. Mrs. Clark says her daughter's mind has been greatly disturbed for some time, although it was not thought best by her to notify friends.

The real cause of the forgery is believed to be the fact that Miss Clark is completely fascinated by the medical student, and sought to advance him money. It is now thought that various sums which Miss Clark has borrowed have gone to Simon Smith. She is an attendant at Roger William's Free Baptist church, corner of High and Knight streets, and was, it is now understood, summoned before the standing committee some time since to answer charges of conduct unbecoming a professing Christian. Miss Clark, on account of the prominence of her family, it is said, was not disciplined. The tenor of the choir was involved in an investigation already mentioned. He has not been removed from the state. It is learned that his wife procured a divorce from him solely on Miss Clark's account. Mr. Clark is president of the Rhode Island Butchers and Market Men's association. He has been prohibition candidate for mayor of Providence, and for governor of the state.

AMONG THE LEPERS.

Sister Rose Gertrude Writes of the Sandwich Islands Hospitals.

New York, July 4.—Sister Rose Gertrude who has devoted herself to work among the lepers of the Sandwich Islands, is still at Kelihi, the reception hospital recently established by the government near Honolulu, and it is probable that she will remain there some time if not permanently. It is at this hospital that persons suspected of leprosy are examined before being sent to Molokai, the leper island. They remain at this hospital some times for six months and frequently die there. Sister Rose Gertrude is the only white nurse at the place and is the principal assistant of the doctor in charge. Her only help is that of unskilled natives, and she is said to be very much overworked. She writes to her Brooklyn friends that although not on leper island itself, she is experiencing to the full extent, the horrors which she foresaw. Two persons had already died in her arms of the dread disease. She says she has received a most generous reception from all whom she has met and that the doctor in charge of the receiving hospital is pleased with her work that he insists that she shall remain there at any rate, until the government is able to furnish someone to supply her place. In company with the government board of physicians she has visited Molokai, spending several days there. Arrangements there for the care of lepers and physicians and nurses are said to be much better than at the reception hospital.

Ready for Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—It was learned at Mare Island navy yard to-day that the Ranger and the Thetis were ready to proceed on their different missions as soon as their orders are received from Washington. Both vessels have been ready for some little time but their missions are unknown. When the orders were first received to fit out the Iroquois and Ranger with quick dispatch, it was believed that both vessels were to be sent to Behring sea, and this belief was strengthened when it became known that orders from Washington are intended to change the Ranger from a surveying vessel and the placing of a battery again on board of her. But the Iroquois, when ready to start, was ordered to Samoa to relieve the Adams, and the Ranger and the Thetis still remain. Both are ready to go on an hours notice.

Chinese Travelers.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Acting Secretary Bachelor has issued the following instructions in regard to the re-entry of Chinese persons into the United States after a visit to China: 1st—Chinese who are laborers are under the exclusion act of October 1, 1888, absolutely debarred from landing in the United States, unless it be for transit across United States territory under the departmental regulations of July and September and December, 1889. 2nd—Chinese who are not laborers, and who may have heretofore resided in the U. S., are not prevented by existing law or treaty from returning to the United States after visiting China or elsewhere. No certificates or other papers, however, are issued either by department or by any of its subordinate officers to show that they are entitled to land in the United States, but it is suggested that such persons should be leaving the United States provide themselves with such proofs of identity as may be deemed proper, showing that they have been residents of the United States and that they are not laborers, so that they can present the same to and be identified by the collector of customs at the port where they may return. Chinese persons not laborers who may come to the United States for the first time are only entitled to land upon compliance with section 3 of the act of July 5, 1884, which prescribes that such persons shall obtain permission of and be identified as entitled by the Chinese or of such other foreign government of which at the time such Chinese persons shall be subject, in such case to be evidenced by a certificate issued by such government, which certificate shall be in the English language, and shall show such permission with the name of the benefitted person in his or her proper signature.
